

learning@home Offline Activities

Have a try at some of these...

Offline activities 7.

Find one of your toys. Sit and read it some stories.

Go on a senses walk around your garden or home. List what you could see, hear and smell.

Create a healthy plate for a meal. If you have a paper plate you can draw straight on it!

Find your favourite story book. Draw one picture to illustrate what happens in the beginning, middle and end.

Sing some nursery rhymes.

Write an 'All about shapes' book and include all the shapes you know.

Write three things you want to learn, three things you want to do, three places you want to go and three people you want to meet.

Pretend to have a telephone call with someone really famous! Write down what you would talk about and what questions you would ask. Act it out.

Walk around on a syllable hunt. As you walk say the names of the objects you see and clap their syllables.

Write an acrostic poem using your name.

Draw a picture of something scary, something happy and something funny.

Write your spelling words in different colours.

Choose some characters from a story. List their character traits.

List three facts on a topic you know really well.

Design a crossword puzzles with all the clues and create an answer sheet.

Clues:

Think of a topic you know a lot about and write a quiz for someone at home to solve.

Write your own joke book.

Think of a favourite story. Re-write the ending.

Look in your pantry. Select a cereal box or packet. Design and create a new label and packaging for it.

Write a word chain. Start with a word and use the last letter to start the next word e.g. egg/giant/turtle... see how far you can go.

Make a 'Guess who' game by drawing cards and writing clues about each person.

Create a family accordion book. Fold a piece of paper back over itself over and over and use each page for one family member.

Pretend to be a reporter. What topic would you report on? Maybe a space-ship has landed in your street!

Write a limerick. Make it funny!

Think of a topic you love! It could be about space, science, dinosaurs or sport. Create a find-a-word using some words from the topic. Create an answer sheet too.

Write a nonsense story about something really normal – e.g. 'The Adventures of the Cheese Grater'.

